TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

After having known and worked several years with Peter Feuchtwanger, there is for me no doubt, that he belongs to the very rare outstanding musical personalities. He has achieved a total equilibrium between great knowledge and strong musical instinct, ~~tha~~ that is to say, all that is necessary to make music alive.

It should be added, that having himself a most natural and logical piano technique and after a long experience of teaching, he can guide his pupils very surely in solving their difficulties in the simplest possible way. He therefore carries on a tradition, although most individually, of an almost forgotten art of piano playing.
